It's a wrap for Sony @ CES 2024!

As part of Sony's presence at CES 2024 in Las Vegas last week, Sony Music showcased a number of recent projects developed in-house by our Sony Immersive Music Studios team, including new experiences for Fortnite and Roblox. Sony Music is developing a range of new opportunities for artists to expand their engagement with fans on gaming platforms and in other entertainment environments using game engine creation and virtual production technologies.

Check it out! #CES2024

You never know when a ✨ special guest ✨ might stop by #SonyCES

Iniko visited the Sony booth to play "Journey Through Jericho," a new Fortnite Island based on the "Jericho" music video. Created using Sony virtual production capabilities and Unreal Editor for Fortnite (UEFN) from Epic Games/Unreal Engine, the setting is a recreation of the music video paired with in-game effects driven by the lyrics.

"It was dope to be the first musical artist to use Sony's virtual production stage," says Iniko. "When I wrote the treatment for the video, it was important that the city felt real to my description: dystopian and barren; seeing it come to life was so cool. I really wanted to expand more into the realm of gaming and it's a great way to get people to be a part of the 'Jericho' world."

This #BlackHistoryMonth, we celebrated #HipHop50 by listening to stories from transformative voices within UK music history.

In partnership with The Orchard, HUE UK and Commercial Group teams hosted 'The Music That Made Us' panel, featuring speakers including ENNY, D Double E, and Avelino, hosted by Nada.

They shared Hip-Hop songs that have shaped us as music lovers, taking us back in time to when we first heard those tracks. Additionally, there was a UK fan Hip-Hop bedroom installation experience that took fans of the genre on a journey through the evolution of Hip-Hop over the years.
